Environmental Studies BA/BS: Program Learning Objectives

(Lang, Parsons, and NSPE)

- Students will have a general understanding of basic and advanced ecology, with particular focus on urbanized regions
- Students will understand the use of evidence-based research methods in the study of environmental change
- Students will understand the role of natural and social sciences in environmental policymaking
- Students will understand the interactions between natural and social sciences and policy, particularly in urban systems
- Students will be able to apply design thinking skills to solve environmentalproblems, particularly as they relate to urban systems