The Global Politics Advisory Group

The Global Politics Advisory Group (G-PAG) are scholars outside NSSR willing to serve on committees of Politics Ph.D. students in addition to faculty members within the department who work on global politics and who play a role in the intellectual life of the Department. Collectively, they offer theoretic and empirical expertise in critical international relations, international political economy, global politics, area studies, and related subjects.

Ph.D. students who would like to work with a member of the G-PAG should consult first with their supervisor or with Professors Tarak Barkawi or Rafi Youatt. Ph.D. students should also note that their dissertation committee chair and their principal adviser must be based within The New School.
