1. Overview of the Thesis Process:

The thesis is an independent project based on field work, institutional research, and/or theoretical research involving primary and secondary sources. Media-based theses are possible with Program approval. Theses must conform to academic standards. You are expected to follow the following guidelines in the preparation and submission of your thesis. Failure to follow these guidelines will delay your graduation.

Students usually decide in their second semester (or by the completion of 18 credits) whether they wish to write a thesis. This is known as choosing the “Thesis Option.” Talk with your advisor about whether the thesis is the right option for you. Students writing the thesis register for two courses: Thesis Workshop followed by Thesis Supervision. The steps for pursuing a thesis are as follows:

I. Workshop Semester

1. Thesis Workshop

Upon consultation with their advisors, students pursuing the ‘thesis option’ register for the Thesis Workshop, which focuses on designing the research project and writing a proposal. The Thesis Workshop is taken the semester before completing the thesis. Before starting the workshop students must draft a preliminary 2-page statement of their proposed thesis topic and bring this statement to the first workshop meeting. The goal of the workshop is the completion of a proposal that forms the basis of the thesis itself. The Workshop is a prerequisite for registering for Thesis Supervision.

2. Thesis Committee

Prior to or concomitant with taking the Thesis Workshop, students put together a Thesis Committee, which consists of a primary reader and a secondary reader. The primary reader is known as the thesis supervisor (not necessarily the same person as the academic advisor) and must be a full-time GPIA faculty member. The secondary reader can be an academic, researcher, or professional in a field related to the student’s work and may be external to the program. External readers must be approved by the thesis supervisor.

3. Thesis Registration

By the last week of the Thesis Workshop students must submit a Thesis Registration Form, available in the GPIA office and online. This registration form must be signed by the thesis supervisor and turned in to the GPIA Program Secretary by December 10th for students completing their thesis the following Spring semester and by May 10th for students completing their thesis the following Fall semester.

II. Supervision Semester

1. Thesis Supervision

In the semester following the Thesis Workshop, students register for Thesis Supervision usually under the name of their thesis supervisor. Thesis Supervision carries 3 credits. Students must have a thesis proposal and a thesis supervisor prior to registering for Thesis Supervision. At the beginning of the semester, students submit their finished thesis proposal to their committee and work out a plan for completing the thesis. Theses are researched and written independently during the semester, though with the advice and guidance of the thesis supervisor.

2. Thesis Submission to the Committee

In accordance with the individual thesis plan, students submit a final draft of the thesis to their committee; a revised draft follows, integrating the committee's comments. The committee should have at least two weeks to review the revised draft before the Program's final thesis deadline. Either reader may ask the student to continue to revise and resubmit part or all of the work. If approved, the completed manuscript is submitted to the Program.

3. Thesis Deposit with the Program

In order to graduate, TWO clean, final copies of the approved thesis (also known as the deposit copies), bearing the signatures of the committee members on the cover page (see Thesis Format Guidelines, below) must be deposited with the GPIA Secretary, who will verify compliance with format guidelines. One copy of the thesis will be available for reading and one copy will be filed for reference. You must also submit an electronic, pdf version to thesis@milanoschool.org. In addition, the supervisor must submit a passing grade (P) for the Thesis Supervision. The thesis does not receive a letter grade.

Finished, signed, and approved thesis manuscripts on acid-free paper, conforming to all of the usual expectations of library-deposited thesis documents, are due in the GPIA Office by December 10th for January degree conferral, and May 10th for May degree conferral. Theses deposited after that date will delay the student's graduation by one semester.

2. GPIA Thesis Format Guidelines

Length of thesis: 45-55 pages of text (not including title page, abstract, table of contents, bibliography, notes, or appendices).

Order of Thesis: The thesis should conform to this order:

1. Title Page (do not count or number this page)
Type the title of the thesis in all Capital letters centered 2” from the top of the page.
Double space and type “by”.
Double space and type the students” name, as the author, in full as it will appear in the diploma.
Type “A THESIS” approximately 2.5” below the name.
Double space then type (single spaced):
Submitted to The New School in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of
MASTER OF ARTS in International Affairs
Double space then type: The Graduate Program in International Affairs.
Double space and type the month and year in which the thesis is submitted.
Signature lines for first and second readers and date approved at bottom of page.
2. Abstract 200 words maximum (do not count or number this page)
3. Table of contents
4. List of Tables (if any)
5. List of Figures (if any)
6. Glossary or list of abbreviations/symbols etc.
7. Text of thesis (divided into chapters or major sections. Each chapter or major section must begin on a new page, and the chapter titles in the text and in the table of contents must match.) Usually the thesis will have sections approximating the following. Please confer with your supervisor to determine what will work best in your particular case:
Typical thesis outline:
 - a. Introduction
 - b. Literature review closely related to statement of problem
 - c. Formal statement of hypothesis
 - d. Description of research methods
 - e. Findings and analysis
 - f. Conclusion
8. Appendices (if any)
9. Bibliography

Format specifications

- Margins must be 1 inch on the right, top and bottom and 1.5 inches on the left.

3. GPA Citation Guidelines

Check with your thesis supervisor for their preferred citation style. Regardless of specific style, citations must follow academically accepted norms. The most common style used in the social sciences is the Chicago Style's Author-Date System, described below. You may also wish to consult Kate Turabian's A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 7th ed., 2007.

Chicago Manual of Style – Author-Date System

This guide is based on The Chicago Manual of Style 16th ed. (University of Chicago Press, 2010); The Chicago Manual of Style Online, <http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/home.html>, and The Ohio State University's Chicago Style Citation Guide, <http://library.osu.edu/sites/guides/chicagodg.php>.

Reference list items are listed alphabetically at the end of the research paper.

In-Text citations are noted in the body of the paper.
