

Facts and Figures Fall 2010

The New School was founded nearly a century ago as a bastion of intellectual and artistic freedom. Rooted in New York City, but active around the world, The New School today contains some of the nation's most respected programs in design, liberal arts, the performing arts, and social and political thought. Students from across the country and around the world attend The New School's wide-ranging programs—on campus in Greenwich Village and online—to earn bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees, complete certificate programs, or take continuing education classes. New School students enjoy a disciplined education supported by small class sizes, superior resources, and a renowned faculty of artists, scholars, and professionals who practice what they teach.
