
GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS AND INFORMATION

Students who previously attended the New School and wish to return may need to file a readmission application. The readmission application applies to the following populations:

- Former students wishing to return to the program they were originally admitted after an absence of four semesters (fall and spring) unless otherwise noted in the Additional Instructions by Program section below
- Students academically dismissed from their program, regardless of the length of absence since being enrolled at The New School
- Absence from the university for two or more years and without filing and adhering to a Leave of Absence
- Absence beyond allotted permitted Leave of Absence

Students who took classes at other colleges during their absence are required to apply for admission as a transfer student according to the instructions outlined at www.newschool.edu/admission/application-instructions.

If you are an International Student and require a visa to resume your studies at The New School, please email International Student and Scholar Services office at iss@newschool.edu to secure the required documentation after you have received your admission decision. For the Paris campus visa procedure, please email the Parsons Paris Office of Admission at thinkparsonsparis@newschool.edu.

Students must reapply to the program to which they were originally admitted. If you plan on returning to The New School to a different program from which you were last enrolled, please contact the Office of Admission at 212-229-5150 to receive counsel on the admission process, application, and artistic review, if applicable.

Readmission is only available for current New School programs. If you were absent for less than two years, contact your academic advisor.
